OUTLINES

Thursday, the 28th inst., has been set apart by the President as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. —— The Government of Honduras will extradite A. K. Walker, the alleged Memphis embezzler. —— A serious split has occurred in the A. P. A. organization in Ohio. —— The Golden Belt Hosiery Mills at Durham, said to be the largest in the South, will soon be in operation. —— F. W. Efland, of Winsboa, dealer in groceries, has made an assignment. —— In the case of the Carter Casing Machine Co., of Danville, Va., against Winston tobacco manufacturers, Judge Dick, of the U. S District Court, rendered a decision in favor of the defendants. —— Corbett and his party arrived in Memphis yesterday; he says he is convinced that Fitzsimmons never intended to fight him and that he will pay no more attention to him. —— The utmost confidence prevails among Kentucky Democrats that the State will go Democratic by a handsome majority, while prominent Republicans claim the State by from 5,000 to 10,000 majority. —— Indications point to a light vote in Iowa to-day. —— A highwayman was shot and captured after he had held up and robbed a mail coach. —— The Democrats of Ohio claim that Ex Gov. Campbell will be elected by 10,000 majority. —— A negro convention will be held in Raleigh to endorse the action of the conference held in September on matters pertaining to the negro in North Carolina. —— Joint action will be taken by the United States and England for the protection of missionaries in Turkey. —— A strike is probable by members of the American Railway Union on the Great Northern Railroad. —— The attendance on the Atlanta Exposition is growing steadily and receipts are more than paying expenses. —— Hogs are dying in Minnesota from the swine plague. —— New York markets: Money on call was quoted at 2@2½ per cent., last loan at 2 per cent. and closing offered at 2 per cent; cotton quiet—middling gulf 9¾ cents; middling 9 cents; Southern flour dull and easy—common to fair extra $2.10@2.80; good to choice $2.90@3.80; wheat—spot market dull and weak; No. 2 red in store and at elevator 69c; afloat 70½c; corn—spot steady and quiet; No. 2 at elevator 36½c; afloat 37½c; spirits turpentine dull but steady at 28@28¼c; rosin quiet and steady; strained common to good $1.65@1.70.

The new Prime Minister of Austria is the descendant of an Italian cook. If Austria's affairs ever get in a stew he ought to be able to manage it.

The Galveston, Texas, News says the town of Waco has a rooster with horns. We have seen Texans with spurs, and more "horns" than they could manage.

Russian scientific observers have discovered that nearly one-half the trees struck by lightning in the forests near Moscow are white poplars, which they pronounce natural lighting conductors.

As a means of preventing infanticide in Paris a French statesman proposes the establishment of a baby market, where people who have a surplus of babies may dispose of them to people who are short.

A Wisconsin man has found a feathered snake. It would not take much of the average brand of sperits retailed in Badgerdom to make the fellow who got outside of it much discover any kind of snake.

A New Jersey woman was arrested the other day, under an old law, and tried as a common scold. She was convicted but the judge suspended judgment on condition that she muzzle her mouth or discourse through the telephone.

A disgusted American bachelor, who has been figuring on it finds that alleged European noblemen have within the past twenty-five years captured $150,000,000 worth of American heiresses, and all it cost them was some wornout titles.

When the treasury of the town of Red Bank, N. J., gets in a squeeze the police pick up citizens who go outside of the dictionary for language to emphasize their remarks and the squires charge them 50 cents a swear. A State which runs Jersey lightning factories and law mills to grind out fines from swearers, has a pretty sure thing on revenue for the towns.

Mr. J. Van Alen, of Rhode Island, had to give a $200,000 bond for his appearance for trial in the suit against him by Col. Colt, who charges him with Alenuating Mrs. Colt's affections. A $200,000 bond for meddling with the Colt bond cunubial is a somewhat expensive pastime.

Barney Barnato, the Kaffir King, who not many years ago was a London gutter snipe, and a couple years ago was a penniless mountebank, but is now a Croesus, is no slouch. He remembered his early associates by donating the other day $225,000 to the poor of London.

Death of Mrs. John M. Donlan.

Mrs. Kate Whiting Reilly, wife of Mr. John M. Donlan, engineer on the Atlantic Coast Line and son of Mr. T. Donlan of this city, died yesterday at her home in Florence, S. C. The sad intelligence was received here last night in a telegram to Maj. D. O'Connor. The deceased was the youngest daughter of the late Maj. James Reilly, of Brunswick county, and a most estimable lady, warmly beloved by many in the city. Her remains will be brought here for interment.

The body is expected to arrive here at noon to-day and will be taken to the residence of Maj. D. O'Connor, whose wife is a sister of the deceased.

VOL. LVII.—NO. 38. WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1895. WHOLE NO. 8,897

LOCAL DOTS.

Items of Interest Gathered Here and There and Briefly Noted.

— Local forecast: Increasing cloudiness and warmer Tuesday; fresh northeasterly winds.

— There will be no cotton market report from New York to-day, on account of the State election.

— There was 6.5 feet water in the river at Fayetteville Sunday at 8 a. m.; a rise of 2.3 feet in the previous 24 hours.

— The schooner Charles Linthicum and the schooner Edna, bound north, put in at Southport Sunday for a harbor.

— Chas. McDonald, colored, employed by the Government at Southport was drowned there yesterday morning about eight o'clock.

— Sheriff Rouark, of Brunswick county, sold the graded portion of the railroad between this city and Southport at auction yesterday for $100.

— Mr. Jas. F. Post, Jr., secretary and treasurer of the W. & W. R. R. Co., gives notice that a dividend of three per cent. on the capital stock of the company is payable November 19th, 1895.

— Buffalo Bill, with his "Wild West," has left Atlanta for Lancaster, Pa., where they will go into winter quarters. The season has been a very successful one, the profits, it is said, amounting to nearly $200,000.

— Florida oranges will be scarce, but the short crop these will be more than made up by shipments from Jamaica, Cuba, Mexico and California. So, there should be no material advance in the price of oranges this season.

— The sixteen young men who went down the river Sunday on the Navassa to spend the day at Southport had an enjoyable time. They took dinner at Miss Kate Stuart's in excellent style, had a good supper and returned safely, leaving Southport at 10 p. m.

— Messrs. F. E. Hege & Co., of Newbern, will begin to-day, in the old First National Bank building, an interesting exhibit of dogs, pheasants, poultry, rabbits, &c. The price of admission is so small that everybody can afford to attend. The exhibition will close Friday night.

The Chosen Friends.

This is the name of one of the most flourishing beneficial orders in the country, and is represented in our midst by a branch known as "Wilmington Council," which comprises some of our best citizens of both sexes. There being in this State a considerable number of councils, the supreme authorities have for some time past been looking around for a proper person to whom the management of the affairs of the order in this jurisdiction might be entrusted, and finally selected our townsman, the Rev. Dr. Mendelsohn. Him they appointed to the office of "Provisional Grand Councillor for the State of North Carolina," to whom the councils will henceforth report, and who is authorized and empowered to supervise their work.

Dr. Mendelsohn's formal installation and investment will take place at the meeting of the local Council next Wednesday, 6th inst., and will be conducted by Supreme Representative Callahan, of Washington, D. C., who has been deputized by the Supreme Councillor of this Order to perform that service as well as to acquaint the members with the recently introduced new features of their relief laws.

Wilmington Council is justly proud of the honor of having one of its members promoted to so high and important an office, and the STAR congratulates its friends on the auspicious occasion.

Zeb Vance Division K. of P. Will Visit Atlanta Exposition.

At a special meeting last night of Zeb Vance Division No. 1, Uniform Rank K. of P., it was decided, unanimously, that the division attend the Atlanta Exposition on the 17th inst., accompanying the Wilmington Light Infantry on their trip over the Seaboard Air Line.

The train will leave Wilmington at 3.20 p. m. the 17th, with a Pullman sleeper and two domestic sleepers attached, and Mr. Thos. D. Meares, general agent S. A. L., will do everything in his power to make the trip an agreeable and enjoyable one for all.

U. S. District Court.

The U. S. District Court will meet this morning at 10 o'clock. Judge Seymour arrived yesterday afternoon from Newbern and Marshal Carroll from Raleigh got in last night, as did a large number of jurors, witnesses and others who have business at the present term. There are about one hundred cases on the docket, but none of any especial importance.

Election Returns To-Night.

The elections to take place in the eleven States to-day are full of interest to all true Democrats. This is specially true of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio and Kentucky. The STAR will be at home to its friends to-night, and extends a cordial invitation to them to call and get the news.

Cotton Notes.

Receipts here yesterday were 1,596 bales; same day last year, 3,287.

Spot cotton was firm in Wilmington at 8¼c for middling; steady in Charleston at 8¾c; steady in Savannah at 8 7-16c.

New York futures closed 4 to 6 points higher than closing prices Saturday.

Receipts at the ports 88,292 bales, against 85,898 same day last year.

Don't forget F. E. Hege & Co.'s, of Newbern, exhibit of Dogs, Pheasants, Poultry, Rabbits and other pets in bank building, opposite Purcell House, Nov. 5th to Nov. 8th. Open 8 a. m. to 11 p. m. Admission—adults, 10 cents; children under six years, 5 cents. †

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Regular Monthly Meeting—Reports of Committees—A Gentle Reminder From the Board of Audit and Finance—City Finances.

The Board of Aldermen met last night at 8 o'clock in the City Court room. Mayor Fishblate and Aldermen Maunder, Springer, Hicks, Northrop, Harriss, Gore, VonGlahn, Cameron, Walker and Nixon were present.

Reports from the various committees were called after the minutes of the last meeting were approved.

Alderman Springer, of the Finance Committee, reported that they were unwilling to defray the expenses for the entertainment of the Amphitrite's officers without being authorized by the Board.

Alderman Northrop said the Committee reported progress in regard to appropriating $350 towards advertising Wilmington at the Atlanta Exposition, and that Messrs. Cronly and Morris be allowed $79 extra for work on tax listing and fixing books.

Alderman Cameron, of the Police Committee, stated that in the matter referred to them of the ill use of Mr. William Sheehan's horse, they reported progress.

Alderman Northrop, of the Market Committee, reported that all premiums had been paid, and notes, with security, signed for the stalls rented recently at the various market houses.

Upon motion, the premium and one month's rent were refunded to Mr. O. H. Kennedy, as the Board could not accommodate him outside the regular market houses.

Alderman Harriss, of the Sanitary Committee, reported that Alderman Northrop's resignation as chairman of the Market Committee, which was referred to them, had been acted on, and upon motion Alderman Maunder was elected to fill the vacancy. Alderman Harriss stated that the Ordinance Committee reported progress in regard to the ordinance prohibiting the sale of second-hand clothing.

Alderman VonGlahn, of the Fire Committee, in the matter of the Street Railway Co.'s wires burning out the fire-alarm wires, reported progress.

Alderman Nixon, referring to a letter from Mr. E. S. Martin stating that it required an act of the Legislature to change the name of a street, moved that the change of Mulberry street to Grace street be reconsidered. The motion was tabled.

Alderman Walker moved that the ordinance in regard to scavengers be abolished, as it was no benefit to the city. It was referred to the Odinance Committee.

Messrs. Cronly & Morris were allowed $35 for renting stalls.

Petition from M. McCall, who pays $300 rent for a stand under the market shed, asking for a reduction, was refused.

The following letter from the Board of Audit and Finance was read:

To the Honorable the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN—I am directed by the Board of Audit and Finance to call your attention to the status of specific appropriations made in the department of streets and wharves, to-wit:

Lumber, appropriated for	$600.00
Expended from April, '95, to October, '95 (six months)	589.32
Leaving unexpended for the last half of the fiscal year	$10.68
Shell, appropriated for (streets and wharves)	$1,000.00
Expended	888.43
Unexpended	$116.57

Also, that there has been paid for the hire of horses from April, '95, to October, '95, $155.75; charged to streets and wharves, $90.50; fire, $65.25.

Respectfully,
JOHN COWAN, Clerk.

Alderman Harriss said this money had been expended where necessary, and then did not fulfill requirements or keep things in good shape.

Mayor Fishblate stated that the city was in the best financial condition it had been since his recollection, and that no money would have to be borrowed to pay January coupons, and possibly none to pay any coupons becoming due during the Summer.

A petition asking that a brick sidewalk be placed in front of Market Street Methodist Church was ordered granted.

City Treasurer F. B. Rice's monthly report was read, showing a balance of $8,428.76 in the Treasury.

Upon motion, $150 was appropriated to repair Sixth street bridge, and $50 to repaint and repair Fourth street bridge, the Board of Audit and Finance concurring.

Upon motion, the Board adjourned.

Schooner Lost.

The schooner Martin C. Ebel, a frequent visitor at this port, a dispatch from New York says, has been capsized at sea. The fate of the crew of nine men is unknown. The steamer City of Washington at New York yesterday from Tampico reports having passed the Ebel Sunday in latitude 35.57, longitude 75. She was lying broadside on the water, with masts and rigging intact. The deck load was spread over the sea nearby. The schooner had but recently capsized. She was bound for Philadelphia from Jacksonville, Fla.

New Fertiliser Works.

Mr. S. T. Morgan, of Durham, N. C., Mr. James W. Allison and Mr. J. D. Le Deux, of Richmond, Va., all connected with the Virginia and North Carolina Chemical Company, are in the city for the purpose of selecting a site for fertilizer works. They took a drive around town yesterday and will probably be here several days.

Wretched Mail Facilities.

If the Postoffice Department cannot provide better mail "facilities" than those now alleged to exist on the Carolina Central railroad, it will become necessary for the people interested to establish a line of stage coaches between Wilmington and Charlotte. "Forbearance has ceased to be a virtue."

COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Meeting Board of Commissioners—Various Matters Considered—Corrections in Tax Assessments Made.

The Board of Commissioners of New Hanover county met yesterday in regular monthly session. Present, Messrs. H. A. Bagg (chairman), B. G. Worth, E. L. Pearce, B. S. Montford, J. C. Stevenson.

Treasurer VanAmringe submitted his report for the month of October, showing balance on hand to the credit of the general, special and educational fund, $6,682.54.

Register of Deeds Haar submitted report showing 19 marriage licenses during October, and the fees therefor, amounting to $15.05, turned over to the county treasurer.

Ordered by the Board that taxes on $2,700, entered on the tax books against the Cotton Seed Oil Mill, be abated, as the same was entered by mistake.

Ordered, that an appropriation of $50 be made for the out-door poor, for firewood, to be distributed by the Associated Charities.

Rev. Dr. P. H. Hoge and Rev. Robt. Strange appeared before the Board and asked for the appointment of a committee to investigate and consider if some change could be made in the furnishing of medicine to the sick out-door poor. The chair appointed as committee Messrs. Worth and Stevenson.

It was ordered, that the Rev. D. Morrelle be allowed to list his property in block 139 at the valuation of $3,500.

Ordered, that the valuation of property of F. W. Foster in block 248 be reduced from $3,000 to $2,500, and the valuation of property of the W. & W. R. R. Co. in block 248 be increased from $100 to $600.

Ordered, that valuation of property of Fore & Foster in block 294 be reduced from $900 to $400, on account of clerical error.

Ordered, that valuation of property of J. H. Kuck, in block 164, be reduced from $8,000 to $3,000.

Ordered, that valuation of property of R. F. Tyson, in block 165, be reduced to $10,000, from $18,000, to agree with assessor's book and correct an error.

Ordered, that valuation of property of A. D. Wessell and C. H. Bonham, in block 158 be reduced from $3,000 to $1,500 each on account of error and recommendation of the Board of Assessors.

Ordered, that valuation of property of P. Donlan, in block 218, be reduced from $4,000 to $3,750.

Ordered, that valuation of property of W. T. Ritter, in Cape Fear township, be reduced $50.

Ordered, that the National Bank of Wilmington be allowed to list its capital stock at $75,000, less $28,000 on real estate and personal property.

Ordered, that the Atlantic National Bank's capital stock be listed by the resident stockholders at 85 per cent., less 8 per cent. paid by the bank on real estate and personal property.

On motion, the transfer of the contract for furnishing medicines to outdoor poor from Geo. L. Harmon to J. C. Munds, was approved.

The Board adjourned after making further corrections of clerical errors in assessments.

ARTESIAN WELLS.

Why Not Have Some Water in Wilmington?—Let Us Try the Artesian Well.

Why will not Wilmington try the experiment of artesian wells? There is much complaint here of impure water, and yet no steps are taken to remedy the evil. The STAR has often urged this matter on the attention of our people and has reproduced many articles from its exchanges showing the value of artesian wells. In this connection the annexed paragraph from the Greenville, S. C., News is worth reading:

"The news from the low country is that it may not be long before the tide of prosperity and growth will set strongly to the low country. We people in the hills do not realize the tremendous revolution being brought about by the Artesian wells along the coast. They are making rice planters independent of the rivers for water, doing away with the enormous losses and expenses of dependence on contingencies and river conditions and making habitable places where white men could not live. The poison supposed to be in the air was in the water and white families are healthy in the rice fields so long as they drink from Artesian wells, which give strong flows from depths of forty to sixty feet. Maybe it will not be long before the 'nigger and alligator' country will be a garden again. The soil is there for results, the magnificence of which we clay country folks can hardly imagine."

One Cent a Word.

Hereafter advertisements to go in our "Business Locals" department will be charged one cent per word for each insertion; but no advertisement, however short, will be taken for less than 20 cents.

This is a reduction from former rates and it is also a convenience to advertisers, who can calculate the exact cost of their advertisements, which must be paid for always in advance.

Buy No Others.

All persons are hereby cautioned against buying copies of the STAR offered for sale on the streets unless, in every case, the words "For Transient Sale" are stamped on the margin of the paper. Should any newsboy or carrier offer for sale a copy of the STAR not so stamped he should be promptly reported at this office.

Encyclopædia Britannica.

The STAR Britannica Department is still filling orders for the Encyclopædia Britannica. This is the latest and best edition of this great work. Issued in 25 volumes, bound in cloth or sheep. For full particulars read announcement on hird page, or inquire at the STAR office.

Those in need of Winter clothing and gentlemen's furnishings will do well to call on Mr. I. Shrier, corner of Front and Princess streets, the store recently occupied by Messrs. Davis & Zoeller. For good fits and nice goods he cannot be beaten. No merchant in Wilmington can undersell him. Call at his store and be convinced that the above are facts. †

THE NEWS IN RALEIGH.

A LEADING MERCHANT SAYS BUSINESS IS GOOD.

Change of Schedule on the Southern—Marshal Carroll Better—Large Revenue Collections—Hymenal—S. A. L. Appointment—Chrysanthemum Show—Gov. Carr and Family in Atlanta.

[Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 4.

The change of schedule on the Southern does not affect the arrivals of any trains reaching Raleigh. The train which gets here at 11.10 making connection with Wilmington will wait twenty minutes at this point in order to connect with the Seaboard mail from Atlanta to Norfolk.

Mrs. J. M. Barbee, who for years was the superintendent of Murphy graded schools and who at the beginning of the scholastic year was elected to the faculty of the Greensboro Normal school, has resigned her position. She was re-elected to her old position in the Raleigh graded schools by the Board of Education as soon as they learned of her resignation.

Marshal Carroll left for Wilmington this morning, accompanied by his son Clifford. Mr. Carroll is much better, but is not a well man.

There was a good deal of excitement occasioned on the streets Saturday night by a rumor giving currency to the fact that Charles Walton, known as "Schackle-foot Charles," was in the city. Charles murdered a man last Summer by stabbing him. He is a full-fledged Democratic negro and some of the colored people think the officers don't want to arrest him. Several parties went in chase of him Saturday night but he has not been seen.

Mr. William Woollcott, one of the leading merchants in this city and a shrewd financier, says business is as good as he has seen it for years. He says the people have the money and spend it freely.

The revenue collections at this office, which are the largest during the present administration, amount to $124,826.15. The receipts at Durham and Reidsville, both of which towns are in this district, are not included.

The counties of Catawba and Wayne are the first to make large payments on new taxes.

Mr. Carraway, of Newbern, will lead to the altar to-morrow night at Christ Episcopal Church Miss Louise Elyie, of this city. Miss Elyie is the daughter of the superintendent of the Federal cemetery.

Mr. J. S. Riddle has been appointed foreman of the wrecking train on the S. A. L. by Mr. W. T. Read, Superintendent of Motive Power. Mr. Riddle will have supervision of wrecks occurring on the road between Portsmouth and Monroe, including the divisions. He succeeds Mr. Larson, who has resigned to return to his former home, St. Paul, Minn.

A crysanthemum show is to be given at an early date by the ladies of the city.

Gov. Carr and family leave for Atlanta this afternoon on private car tendered by the Southern Railway.

The Hawkins will case will in all probability come up in the Superior Court.

CITY COURT.

Two Prisoners Sent Up to the Criminal Court.

John Watson, charged with disorderly conduct, assaulting Geo. Love with intent to kill and resisting arrest, was arraigned in the City Court yesterday before Mayor Fishblate. Witnesses testified that Watson and Love were drunk at Watson's house last Saturday. Watson lassoed Love with a rope and dragged him around the yard. They succeeded in rescuing Love, who was purple in the face and nearly exhausted. Watson followed his fvictim and the rescuers to the gate, making threats, and then went in the house and dragged out his ten-year old daughter, who was crying and badly frightened. One of the witnesses made Watson release the child. Love was sworn and said that he met Watson early Saturday morning and took several drinks with him; was too drunk to remember what transpired at Watson's house, Watson was required to give bond in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court, and failing to give the bond was committed to jail. Love was dismissed, after being reprimanded by the court, who told him that if he was ever brought up again for drunkenness the court would give him full benefit of the law.

David Everitt, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon—a pair of tongs—upon Hattie Edwards, colored, was sent to jail in default of bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance at the Criminal Court.

Fred Thomas, a colored boy nine years old, charged with assaulting another boy with stones, was turned over to his parents for correction.

DIED.

DONLAN—At Florence, S. C., November 4th, Mrs. KATE WHITING REILLY, wife of Mr. John M. Donlan.

The remains will arrive at Wilmington to-day at 11.50 a. m., and be conveyed to the residence of Maj. D. O'Connor. Funeral notice hereafter.

YOU!

We Are Talking to You!

You have probably noticed our untiring efforts to gain your trade. Considering the large number of customers which we have managed to draw our way, we might, possibly, worry along without you. But we WANT YOUR TRADE. We are "rounding up" some contracts made months ago, for certain

SHOES

Which we managed by a "close rub" to get at old prices. True, we are paying the Full Rise on some grades, because we can't get them from manufacturers without doing so. But believing our section ill-prepared to pay the full advance, we are trying to equalize things by Dividing Our Advantages with our patrons, whom we cordially thank for past favors, and ask (also the public in general) to continue to call on us for Bargains in all kinds of Foot Wear.

Respectfully,

THE PER CAPITA FRAUD.

There are two questions in which the people have been and are vitally interested, in which there has been an almost infinite amount of fraud practiced. The tariff as constructed and perpetuated was a fraud in its inception and was kept in existence by fraud so thin that any one who was not blind could see through it, but yet enough of the voters of this country were humbugged by it to keep the fraud in operation for nearly a generation, and in force in a modified form yet.

But the tariff fraud, bad as it was, is dwarfed into insignificance by the colossal frauds that are perpetrated by some of the advocates of so-called "sound money," which means when properly interpreted, gold monometallism. One of these frauds is the pretended fear of "inflation," which would make money "cheap," by which they mean of little value. On this ground they oppose the free coinage of silver, which they allege would bring about this inflation. They know that there is no more danger of inflation as they understand it than of the Blue Ridge mountains leaving their base and tumbling down into the sea. When free coinage approached the line to make mony so abundant that it may be valueless it would stop by common consent, for neither the people of this country nor the silver mine owners are fools. If there were three times the amount of money in actual circulation that the gold monometallists allege there is there would be no inflation in the damaging sense in which they use the word, for the American people could find profitable use for every dollar of it, although the money lenders might not draw quite as much interest as they do now.

But this alleged circulation is another of the monstrous frauds perpetrated. They tell us that the per capita circulation is greater now than it ever was, in round figures about $25 for every man, woman and child in the United States, when as a matter of fact the money in circulation doesn't amount to one-fourth of that sum per capita.

The way this $25 per capita is figured out is very simple, and as absurd as it is simple. They figure up all the gold supposed to be in the country, in the possession of the Government or of the banks, and add to that all the gold that has been coined within a given time, but which is not in sight, and figure out some $600,000,000 of that as now in circulation, when every dollar of what there is of it is locked up or hidden. There isn't $100,000 in gold in actual circulation in the United States to-day. Gold don't circulate. It hides. The probabilities are that instead of $600,000,000 there is not $300,000,000 worth of gold in the United States, which is doubtless one of the reasons why this Government finds so much difficulty in borrowing even $50,000,000 worth of gold, has to employ a syndicate, pay it a big bonus and go abroad to do it. Then they count the silver in the banks (not much there), in the United States Treasury, coin and bullion, and count this as in circulation, when the Treasury officials tell us that the reason why there is so much silver in the Treasury is because they can't put it into circulation. But it counts for circulation all the same in the per capita fraud. Then they count not only the gold and silver on hand, but also the gold and silver certificates thus making a double count. When they count the circulation of the banks they count also the reserve, which the banks are required to hold, which, of course, does not go into circulation. In other words when they come to figure on circulation, like the newspaper publisher, they like to make a big showing, and like some newspaper men are not overscrupulous as to the methods employed.

When we speak of circulation, that is bona fide circulation, we mean money that is actually current among the people or is available for use and within reach of the people who want it and are able to give something for it, or pay for its use. Out of the $600,000,000 of gold coins alleged to be in circulation, how many of them does the average business man see in a year? Not enough to give him a very definite idea as to what they look like. Out of the $500,000,000 of silver counted in circulation, how much of it is handled except in a subsidiary way? In the larger business transactions none. Nearly all the money in actual circulation, save the subsidiary coins, is paper, and there isn't enough of that to make a per capita of $10, and even all of that is not in actual circulation but much is controlled by the strong banks of the money centers to which application must be made when more is needed than the local banks hold, which is the case annually in the South and West when the crop moving time comes and there is need for more money than is ordinarily found in the banks of those sections.

In a speech in the town of Fayette, Mo., recently, Senator Vest said that after a careful analysis of the U. S. Treasury statements, he found that instead of a per capita circulation of $25 as claimed, the real, bona fide circulation per capita was only $3.84. Senator Vest may have been figuring pretty close on this, but to show that he was not making a random assertion, or talking without foundation for what he said, he went through Treasury statements, showed how the money was counted, some of it twice, and lots of it that never went into circulation at all, and then did some figuring himself to show the difference between the actual and the alleged circulation.

Whether Senator Vest's figures be true as to the country at large or not, there is not the slightest doubt that his figures would cover the per capita circulation in the South and in the West, both of which sections have been kept drained by the monstrous tariff which burdened them for so many years, and by the system of contraction which has enabled a small number of men to control the money volume and to keep it within their reach, so that they could manipulate it in their own interests, the very thing the gold monometallists are fighting for now.

MINOR MENTION.

It is somewhat remarkable that interest should have revived in the Panama canal about the time the Committee sent out from this country to examine the Nicaragua route began to talk and it became known that they would report favorably as to the construction of that canal under the auspices of the United States. Another remarkable thing is that the work on the Panama canal is to be conducted under English, not French, management, the money behind it being principally English money. According to Sir Henry Tyler, an English Engineer, who seems to be engineering this enterprise, 1,500 men are now at work on it, 800 men are on the way, and the number will be increased to from 4,000 to 6,000. He went over the route recently and found, he says, fifteen miles on the Atlantic side and three miles on the Pacific side completed, the soundings showing a depth of from 23 to 29 feet of water. He says there is material enough on the ground to complete the work, which can be done in from five to six years (which is also the time estimated for the completion of the Nicaragua canal) at a labor cost of $100,000,000 (which is the estimated cost of the Nicaragua canal). Coincident with these statements of Sir Henry comes the announcement, elicited by the anticipated favorable report of the Nicaragua examining committee, that in the event this Government decide to aid the work it might lead to complications with England growing out of treaties now in existence between the two Governments. Two and two make four, and about as sure as two and two make four English cunning and influence are being brought into play to defeat the prospect of the Nicaragua canal. The big card being played is the Panama canal, the idea being that with the project of the completion of this canal there will be less probability of this Government putting money into the Nicaragua canal, and more ground for opposition by those who are not in favor of the Government taking an interest in that work. While there would be business enough to make one canal pay there would not be enough for two. England can afford to sink $100,000,000 in the Panama ditch if by so doing the Nicaragua project be defeated, and if this should be so, and the Panama canal prove a success, then she will control the two great canals of the world. This country should neither be fooled nor bluffed by English schemers in this matter, for the Nicaragua canal is a necessity, and if the Panama canal be constructed it will become even a greater necessity.

* * *

The probabilities are that if Great Britain persists in her hand-grabbing schemes we may have a little Venezuela question on the borders of Alaska and British Columbia, where British surveyors have extended the dividing line so as to embrace a considerable area of gold-bearing territory which has ever since the purchase of Alaska been considered to belong to this country, and according to the metes and bounds laid down in the Russian charts, so belong. England never took any interest in the boundary until gold was discovered in Alaska, and then she sent out surveyors, who understood their business and knew what they were sent for, to run the lines, and they ran them so as to embrace the most valuable of these gold diggings, where a number of Americans have for some time been making claims. She never took any interest in the Venezuela matter, either, until the gold finds had magnified in her estimation the value of the territory claimed. She may haggle some over submitting the Venezuelan question to arbitration, although we think she will come to taw as matters now stand, but she will not kick so hard against arbitration, if that be proposed, in the Alaska matter, for she will find the Americans out in that quarter determined to protect their lines with powder and ball if necessary, and not disposed to submit to much diplomatic red tape, nor to show much ceremony about it, either.

They grow somewhat extensively in some portions of Texas a kind of corn which they call "cow corn." Each grain is covered with a separate shuck, and the ear also is covered with a shuck like the common corn. This kind of corn occasionally makes its appearance in this State. It is probably a species of the Peruvian corn, efforts to cultivate which are now being made in this country.

An Unfortunate Question.

An ex-governor of Massachusetts tells the following, illustrative of a calling for business: Two brothers had for years done an undertaking business in a surburban town. The elder had a son, Thomas, and desiring to establish him in life obtained from his younger brother a promise that Thomas should be taken into the business whenever he (the elder) should die. The promise was obtained in spite of a feeling on the brother's part that Tom had no calling for the business. The elder soon died, and Thomas became his uncle's partner.

He made good progress and was soon sent to arrange for the funeral of a wealthy man who left as his chief mourner a widow who had already buried two husbands. The young man returned, having made satisfactory arrangements as to carriages, music, flowers, etc., much to his uncle's joy, who now felt that he had misjudged the boy. On the following day the uncle himself went to see that all was going smoothly and found Mrs. X. in high dudgeon. Expressing his regret and surprise, he told Mrs. X. that Tom had returned on the preceding day with everything arranged apparently satisfactorily and asked her what was the matter.

"Well," she replied, "Tom did very well until we discussed the time at which the services should be held. I had got quite made up my mind, when Tom, meaning to help me out, said, 'At what time have you been accustomed to bury your husbands, madam?' "—Boston Budget.

A Generous Child.

A few days ago I ran in to see a woman friend of mine—one of those dear, conventional women who take life seriously and wouldn't do an unusual thing for half your kingdom. While we were talking my friend's little daughter came into the room. She sidled shyly up to her mother.

"Mamma," she said, "may I go down to Mamie's just for a minute?"

The day was cloudy, and the mother demurred. The little girl insisted.

"I have to go, mamma," she said. "Why, dear?" asked her mother.

The little girl hesitated a moment, and then, to her ultra peculiar mother's dismay, she cheerfully explained:

"Why," she said, "I lent Mamie my chewing gum last night, and I want it myself now."—Washington Post.

FLIGHT.

Marcus Hulings, with his wife and baby, was a settler in the Juniata in 1755. While plowing one day Hulings was informed by a Mohawk Indian that a band of hostile savages was but half a day's journey away.

In the next valley, three miles across the mountain, a settler named Hugh Glen had taken up a grant of land in the previous year. The family consisted of a man and wife and two full grown boys. The Mohawk admitted that he had not warned the Glens, and he refused to do so now as he had to push on as quickly as possible to the main river.

He advised Hulings to flee at once. But the Swede was too brave and unselfish to abandon his neighbor to almost certain butchery.

"What shall I do, Elsa?" he said. "My first duty is to you and the child."

"You must warn the Glens, Mark," was the plucky woman's reply. "There is still plenty of time if the Indians are half a day's journey off. While you are gone I will get ready to start for the fort."

Hulings kissed his wife and child and hurried from the house with his musket over his shoulder. It was 4 o'clock when he reached his neighbor's clearing.

Hugh Glen lay dead inside the door, almost within touch of the body of his wife. The boys, James and Archibald, lay near the window.

For a moment a mad thirst for vengeance drove all else from Hulings' mind. Then, with a keen pang of anguish, he remembered his defenseless wife and child and instantly he was out of the house and speeding like a deer across the clearing.

Twilight was shrouding the blue river when he staggered across his own clearing. He saw the black horse saddled and bridled and tied to a sapling. Then the door flew open, and Elsa came out with the baby in one arm and a musket on the other.

"All is ready," she said. "In that bundle on the floor are some things we must take along. I hid the cradle and a good deal else in the bushes and drove the cow and sheep back into the woods. Our poor, kind neighbors!"

He helped his wife into the saddle and gave her the sleeping child and the bundle. Then, with a last look at the deserted home, he strode into the forest, leading the horse after him.

After an hour the fugitives reached the Susquehanna and forded a shallow stretch of water to an island—now known as Duncan's island—that lay abreast of the mouth of the Juniata. There was yet the main channel of the river to be crossed—a three-quarters of a mile wide surface of swift and troubled water. Then eight miles down the other shore was Fort Hunter and safety.

"Here, take my gun, Elsa," he said, "and stick tight to the saddle. I'm not going to mount till I get across. I can pick the way better on foot."

But just as he entered the water his wife checked him with a low cry of dismay. "Oh, Mark, the money! It is still in the crack of the logs beside our bed. How could I have forgotten it?"

Huling had never doubted that the money was in the bundle or in Elsa's bosom. For a moment he was vexed and inclined to sharp words.

"Give me the musket," he said. "I am going back. Twenty gold sovereigns are well worth the journey. We have saved them for three years, and now the time of need is coming. We will be obliged to start afresh if the savages destroy our home and crops."

His wife begged and entreated him not to go, but he judiciously reasoned with her and finally won her reluctant consent. She firmly refused, however, to push on to the fort alone, and this point he had to yield.

Hulings helped his wife to dismount with the sleeping child and placed them and the horse amid the thick bushes a little back from the lower end of the island. Then, musket in hand, he hurried to the upper point and waded noiselessly to shor .

On reaching the clearing Hulings found his fears realized. A bar of yellow light was flashing on the ground before the cabin door. He crawled on hands and knees to the rear end of the cabin and peered through a crevice in the back room. Here he saw a painted warrior holding a blazing torch in one hand, while with the other he ransacked a chest of drawers.

He quickly decided what to do. Gliding to the door, he entered and gained the threshold of the inner room without detection. Then the Shawnee straightened up with a start, to find himself covered by Hulings' musket.

Just then Hulings discovered a bloody scalp dangling at the savage's belt, and he recognized Hugh Glen's iron gray locks. His blood boiled with rage, and he was about to reverse his musket and brain the assassin when he made a startling discovery. A looking glass that hung over the bed showed him a second Indian creeping up behind him with raised tomahawk.

Like a flash Hulings wheeled about with a yell and fired point blank. He saw the savage reel and fall, and instantly he turned again to confront the Indian in the back room.

The latter had by this time grabbed his gun from the bed, but before he could raise it to shoot the maddened settler was upon him with clubbed musket. There was a dull crash, and Hugh Glen's murderer lay sprawling on the floor with a broken skull.

Hulings snatched the Indian's gun and jerked the bag of gold from between the logs. As he dashed for the cabin door a third Shawnee stepped upon the threshold.

The Indian hurled his tomahawk, but Hulings dodged the weapon and then fired. Without awaiting the result of his shot he fled to the inner room, slammed the door shut and trampled out the torch. He took his own gun from the bed and dropped the other. With two blows he demolished the window sash and shutter and leaped through. As he sped across the clearing behind the cabin he heard yells and the reports of half a dozen guns.

Hulings made a short detour toward the mountain before striking the bridle path. Then he hastily reloaded his musket and started off with long, rapid strides. In running he was a match for any Indian.

He was far from exhausted when he reached the Susquehanna and started to wade to the island.

He pushed on, alternately swimming and wading, and came safely to the east bank. Then he imitated the cry of a screech owl, a signal of long standing between himself and wife, and almost immediately he got an answer from a little distance.

Hurrying down the shore, he found Elsa and the child on the horse, and in a canoe near by were Gideon Galbraith and his son, neighbors who lived ten miles up the Jumiata.

The whole party reached Fort Hunter in safety that night and remained there during the perilous and trying weeks that followed.—Exchange.

FRY it in Cottolene

Fry your food in Cottolene instead of lard and it will be free from that greasiness and "richness" so distressing to dyspeptics; the flavor will be delicious instead of rancid, and your food will do you good. Put it in a cold pan, heating it with the pan. Cottolene reaches the cooking point much quicker than lard—care should therefore be taken not to overheat it. Follow these instructions—you will never use lard again.

Genuine Cottolene has trade-marks—"Cottolene" and steer's head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin. Made only by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, St. Louis and Chicago.

New York's River Tunnel.

There is a big hole under North river. Some day it will be a tunnel connecting this city and Hoboken. No work has been done for four years, but the owners of the hole are now trying to raise money in London to complete their tunnel before a bridge can be built over North river. Only 1,230 feet remain to connect the two holes bored from either shore, each of which is now full of water. This water has simply soaked through since work was abandoned on the death of the principal backer. So far $3,000,000 has been poured into the hole, and only $500,000 will be required to complete it.—New York Letter.

Make Clothing For Dogs.

It is well known that there are dentists in London and in Paris whose specialty it is to fit lapdogs with a set of false teeth. It now appears from a Parisian monthly magazine of fashions that there are tailors and fashion plates for dogs. The list of garments includes mackintoshes, Jaeger vests, comforters and respirators, side pockets with a lace handkerchief inside, fur collars, small silk umbrellas, which dogs are taught to carry over the head.—Chicago Tribune.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev J Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich, we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hour with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery, it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at R R BELLAMY'S drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. †

Castoria

For Infants and Children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and overcomes Flatulency, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, and Feverishness. Thus the child is rendered healthy and its sleep natural. Castoria contains no Morphine or other narcotic property.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D. 111 South Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

From personal knowledge and observation I can say that Castoria is an excellent medicine for children, acting as a laxative and relieving the pent up bowels and general system very much. Many mothers have told me of its excellent effect upon their children." DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"For several years I have recommended 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEE, M.D., 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTYN, D.D., New York City.

FOR MAN AND BEAST!

Mexican Mustang Liniment

CURES

Sciatica,	Scratches,	Contracted Muscles,
Lumbago,	Sprains,	Eruptions,
Rheumatism,	Strains,	Hoof Ail,
Burns,	Stitches,	Screw Worms,
Scalds,	Stiff Joints,	Swinney,
Stings,	Backache,	Saddle Galls,
Bites,	Galls,	Piles.
Bruises,	Sores,
Bunions,	Spavin
Corns,	Cracks.

THIS GOOD OLD STAND-BY

accomplishes for everybody exactly what is claimed for it. One of the reasons for the great popularity of the Mustang Liniment is found in its universal applicability. Everybody needs such a medicine.

The Lumberman needs it in case of accident.

The Housewife needs it for general family use.

The Canaler needs it for his teams and his men.

The Mechanic needs it always on his work bench.

The Miner needs it in case of emergency.

The Pioneer needs it—can't get along without it.

The Farmer needs it in his house, his stable, and his stock yard.

The Steamboat man or the Boatman needs it in liberal supply afloat and ashore.

The Horse-fancier needs it—it is his best friend and safest reliance.

The Stock-grower needs it—it will save him thousands of dollars and a world of trouble.

The Railroad man needs it and will need it so long as his life is a round of accidents and dangers.

The Backwoodsman needs it. There is nothing like it as an antidote for the dangers to life limb and comfort which surround the pioneer.

The Merchant needs it about his store among his employees. Accidents will happen, and when these come the Mustang Liniment is wanted at once.

Keep a Bottle in the House. 'Tis the best of economy.

Keep a Bottle in the Factory. Its immediate use in case of accident saves pain and loss of wages.

Keep a Bottle Always in the Stable for use when wanted.

SWIMMING.

Screened from the sun the tranquil pool
Lies tranquil in the woodland dim,
And hither, where the wind blows cool,
Come happy youths to swim.

Hark to the joyful shouts! And now,
Where part the leafy curtains, see
The shining shapes upon the bough
All vanish suddenly.

Into the water's soft embrace
They slip, then out again they spring.
One glad hour of the merman race
With Neptune for their king.
—F. D. Sherman in Youth's Companion.

Over the Telephone.

They were evidently two girls who were to sing a duet at an entertainment. This is how the telephone got it:

"Just try it once more. Stella—oh, Stella!"

"Hello! Is this Clara?"

"Yes. I say, just try it once more—that 'shady nook' part. See if we get it together."

(Two voices.) "In shady nook! In shady nook! Oh, yes! Oh, yes, in shady nook. In shady nook to dwe-e-e-e-l."

"My! I know we'll fail on that high note. Wouldn't it be awful. And I just can't come over tonight, you know. Try that last again."

"That's better. If you'll just use every spare moment, and I can get over Sunday. Say, how have you got that 'distant bell?' "

"Horrible!"

"Sakes!" Haven't you really? Let's hear you try the high."

(Stella.) "Bel-l-l-l-l." "Good! Say, let's just try that passage. See if you can follow."

(Voices.) "To hear the bell—to hear the bell—to hear the distant, distant bell, the bel-l-l—the be-l-l-l, to hear the distant bell—to hear"—

"Stella, oh, Stella! I say"—

"Hello-o-o-o! Is this Clara? Hello, Clara! Say, Clara, did you hear some one swear just now?"

"No. I thought you were holding the note. Try that sustained note again. I'm flat."

(Both.) "Bel-l-l-l-l-l-l. Br-r-r-rng. Br-r-r-ng."

"Stella; oh, Stella!"

"Br-r-ng. Say, get off that line there!"

"Oh, Stella!"—Chicago News.

The Greatest Regret of Life.

Here are some impressive thoughts from Canon Liddon:

"Life is like the summer's days. In the first fresh morning we do not realize the noonday heat, and at noon we do not think of the last shadows lengthening across the plain, and of the setting sun, and of the advancing night. Yet to each and all the sunset comes at last, and those who have made the most of the day are not unlikely to reflect most bitterly how little they have made of it. Whatever else they may look back upon with thankfulness or with sorrow, it is certain that they will regret no omissions of duty more keenly than neglect of prayer; that they will prize no hours more than those which have been passed, whether in private or in public, before that throne of justice and of grace upon which they hope to gaze throughout eternity."

BUENOS AYRES.

Argentine's Capital Is the Queen of the Southern Hemisphere.

The omniscient Whitaker, under the heading "British Possessions In Australasia," states that Melbourne, with its suburbs, contained on Dec. 31, 1894, an estimated population of 444,832 inhabitants, "being the most populous city in the southern hemisphere." We have always understood Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Ayres to be also in the southern hemisphere, and, oddly enough, Whitaker himself gives larger figures for both of these cities than for Melbourne. The remark is probably one that has been at some time true and has been carried on from year to year.

In any case, the results of the census establish incontestably the claim of Buenos Ayres to be the greatest city of South America and of the southern hemisphere. With allowance for imperfections in the execution of the census, inseparable from the way in which it was carried out, the figure 655,688 may be taken as practically correct, and no other city in this half of the world can lay claim to possessing within 100,000 of this number of inhabitants.

The population of Buenos Ayres is thus larger than that of any city of the United Kingdom, except London and Glasgow. It is considerably larger than that of Liverpool or Birmingham, and it is only about 50,000 less than the combined populations of Manchester and Salford. Of the great cities of Europe only Paris, Berlin, Vienna, St. Petersburg, Constantinople and Moscow surpass Buenos Ayres, and in North America only New York, Brooklyn, Chicago and Philadelphia. Our city is the second city of the Latin world, surpassing Madrid, Naples and Rome in Europe and Rio Janeiro, Santiago, Lima and Mexico in the new world. The rate of growth is no less remarkable than the actual size, for in the last eight years Buenos Ayres has increased about 50 per cent.—Buenos Ayres Review.

The Bank of Scotland.

The Bank of Scotland, now 200 years old, naturally sought to encourage Scottish industries, and this is shown in the manufacture of its paper for notes. The first large notes were made in 1696, 20 shilling notes, as they were termed, being only issued on April 7, 1704. In 1729 the bank's paper was manufactured at Giffordhall, near Haddington. Attendants had to be present in the bank's interest, and their account was paid by the bank. One item was "ale and bread furnished to the workmen, 10s.," and another for "drink money to servants, £4 17s. 6d." The items are suggestive, although it is possible they only represented drink money in name.

In 1735 the bank got its 20 shilling banknotes made at Collington Miln (Colinton mill), and there is an "accompt for drink money" in connection with it. A barber came twice from Edinburgh to shave the officials and received 8s. for his professional attendance. Green tea must have cost at this time 24s. per pound, for in the bill a quarter pound sells for 6s. At this Colinton mill the bank appears to have kept all the employees in food during the time the paper was being manufactured. A man was engaged 12 days at the paper mill in dressing meat, and he cut up in that time 200 pounds of it. Meat and mutton cost only 2½d. per pound in those good old days. A hen is charged at 8d., a duck at 9d., one "sollan goose," 1s. 8d.; a dozen eggs, 8d.; six chickens, only 1s. 4d., and a wild fowl, 10d.; cheese cost 4d. per pound and bacon 8d. per pound. In 1769 the bank's note paper was made at Redhaugh Miln (Redhall mill).—Chambers' Journal.

THE HERMIT OF THE MINE.

Old Abe Is Living to Square Things For the Judgment Day.

Just after leaving Evansville and some distance to the right there will be noticed a good sized hill. It is between the gulch and Mount Zion, and all along the edge there are little tunnel sites, which have all been abandoned. The reason for their abandonment is simply this—no solid formation exists there if a tunnel were to bore into the earth for 1,000 feet because the whole mass is a glacial moraine, the debris brought down by the mighty glacier that plowed its way through Big Evans' gulch in prehistoric days. But between the moraine and Mount Zion there lies a basin—a wild, only partially explored region—filled with scrubby undergrowth and an occasional clump of pines. In here, hidden amid a dense growth of timber, is a pretty lake covering several acres. It is a wild, unfrequented spot and is really one of the sources of the Arkansas or at least one of its tributary creeks, and is a beautiful, limpid sheet of water tenanted only by the finny tribe, who have in some mysterious manner found their way to this secluded spot.

Strictly speaking the region is uninhabited, the only denizen, however, being an old fellow familiarly known as Old Abe. His family name seems to be unknown, and as he does not appear to be in any voting precinct the people about Evansville know nothing about him. He seems to have been entirely overlooked by the census taker, and, strange to say, not even a candidate for office has ever sought out this hoary hermit in order to secure his vote. The old man occasionally comes to town, and when he does it is with a little bottle of gold amalgam, which he usually sells to an assayer, the mass of dull colored metal being exchanged for bright goldpieces. After loading up his jack with a good supply of provisions, a few pounds of "baccy" and possibly a fresh set of flies and some ammunition Old Abe returns to his little cabin on the shore of the lake.

He doesn't cultivate visitors. In fact, long residence in that vicinity has given Old Abe a sort of Robinson Crusoe title to the property, and he dislikes intruders on his preserves. There is evidently a placer ground in the neighborhood of the lake where Old Abe does his digging, but the exact location does not seem to be known, although parties have visited the lake and panned the dirt in the neighborhood.

The old man, so it is learned from a merchant who sells him most of his goods, sends a certain amount of money away each year. The merchant, on handing him change one day, asked him what he did with the extra money. Old Abe answered that he was in the habit of sending most of it east. He had a wife and child in the east, he volunteered, but when asked why he did not bring them out here the old man smiled a weary smile and said: "It's a long story, and I haven't the heart to tell it. Some day perhaps you'll know."

Old Abe has some sins to answer for, and he's trying to clear up his record a little for the judgment day. It may or it may not do the business, but a man can only try and do his best.

"I've got a few years of life left, and I'm trying to do the square thing to those I once wronged."

The old man seemed averse to saying much about his early history and went on his way with a jack as aged and gray as himself.—Leadville Herald-Democrat.

WE ARE GREAT LITIGANTS.

More Civil Lawsuits Here Than In Any Other Country In the World.

A man of ingenious mind and apparently ample leisure has gone to the trouble of figuring out the number of lawsuits brought in each country in a year, and he has reached the conclusion that the United States is a better country for attorneys and counselors than any other civilzed land under the sun. He figures as lawsuits civil actions only, taking into no account proceedings of a criminal character brought by the public authorities against individuals. He has ascertained that, taking the figures for the last ten years as a fair average, there are 1,250,000 lawsuits brought in England every year, 750,000 in France, 1,400,000 in Italy, 3,300,000 in Germany and 5,500,000 in the United States.

It is not to be inferred from this that the people of one country are much more prone to litigation than are the people of another, but the explanation is to be found in the fact that the conditions of litigation vary exceedingly. Going to law in England is very expensive business, for it entails outlays in the form of costs and expenses so large that many of the courts are practically closed to persons of modest means, and a long litigation unsuccessfully pursued ends often in bankruptcy. In France the number of lawsuits is kept down through the general practice of "arbitration," as many as 100,000 cases in a year, especially those arising from disputes over wages, being settled by this agency without onerous cost to either party. In Germany a great majority of cases are petty ones, involving a small amount of money and due, many of them, to customs or usages which are not sufficiently defined to be, in all cases, similarly understood by both parties to an agreement. This is especially the case in the farming districts of Germany, and there are many legal disputes in the manufacturing districts too.

The number of cases credited to the United States seems enormous, but it is probably accurate. There are, for example, 11 district courts for the disposal of civil cases in New York city. In one of these courts, by recent report, the number of actions brought in a year was shown to be 9,100. These courts have before them each year, on the average, 75,000 cases. The cases brought in the state courts of New York amount in a year to about 150,000, and of those brought in the federal courts New York furnishes a very large number. Taking the whole country through, it is seen that the average number of cases per thousand of population is in the neighborhood of 75 to 85. The number of lawyers in the United States is materially larger than in any other country in the world, and the amounts in dispute here are much greater than elsewhere. —New York Sun.

REDHOT HAYMAKING.

One Amateur's Experience Was Complete and Satisfactory In One Day.

The hottest experience I ever met with in the country was the day I helped to make hay. The farmer began to call us shortly after midnight, and after a long siege of intermittent yelling he succeeded in his design of getting us out of bed several hours before it was necessary. It was then 8 a. m. About two hours later we had had our breakfasts and were entering the hayfield.

When one gets into trouble, the opening scenes are always alluring. A gorgeous sunrise was in full swing in the east. The dew lay on the grass, and the air was cool and invigorating. I could not but agree with the poets that the scent of the new mown hay was very inspiring. I felt like a colt and was keen to jump into the sport.

The first heat consisted in bunching the hay after the rake, which the farmer himself drove about the field with many loud "gees" and "haws," but few "whoas." The old rascal took a fiendish delight in crowding us. It began to look a little like work.

When the hay was all bunched, the high ladder wagons were driven into the field. Being a novice, I was assigned the duty of loading. I stood upon the wagon and built the load as the hay was pitched to me theoretically, but on me actually. The first dose knocked all the poetry out of me.

The blazing sun had sucked up all the dewdrops and was now high in the east. He seemed to focus his scorching rays on the wagons, and the hay crackled and sizzled about me like frying fat. It was noon 30 times all at once. I thought I was becoming liquified. I sank to my neck in the hay and roasted in a concentrated oven of absorbed solar heat. Not a breeze stirred. No friendly cloud hovered near to screen the orb of fire. I vainly tried to fancy I was in the Arctic ocean and the wagon was a floating iceberg. The old pitchers, inured to the heat and the avocation, still fed on the hay.

We were jerked into the barn—from the frying pan into the fire—and I was there barbecued for half an hour in the hot beds of the mow.

Out we shot again into the broiling field. All day long this process of slow torture continued. It was a little drama from the snowless land inserted into real life, the farmer impersonating satan, the pitchers his archangels and myself Charon's lost passenger.

But, thank heaven, the farmer was no Joshua, and the sun at last completed his trip across the skies and disappeared beneath the mountain. The next day my place on the wagon was occupied by some other fool.—Philadelphia Press.

THEATER CURTAINS.

Costly Draperies That Are Used In Some of the London Theaters.

Few have any idea of the money spent by the managers of London theaters in procuring the curtain which hides the stage from public view, remarked a well known theatrical furnisher to a reporter. Take, for instance, the glorious curtain at Sir Henry Irving's theater, the Lyceum. That curtain, if it cost a penny, cost at least 1,000 guineas. I am told that 1,000 yards of beautiful blood red plush were used to make it complete, and for it Sir Henry Irving is indebted to the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who some years ago generously made him a present of the curtain as a tribute to his artistic genius.

A very expensive curtain is that used at the Prince of Wales' theater, Coventry street, now occupied by Mr. Arthur Roberts. Its cost was about £600. It is made of boiler plate, is entirely fireproof and weighs no less than six tons. No fire can get from the stage to the auditorium or vice versa, as the top and bottom of the curtain respectively rest against and upon a solid wall of brickwork. I believe this, as well as other curtains of the same kind, was the invention of Mr. C. J. Phipps, the theatrical architect.

Perhaps the most beautiful theater curtain in London—where the finest curtains in the world are to be seen—are those at the Lyceum, to which I have referred, the Palace Theater of Varieties, and the Savoy. The Palace curtain is a real work of art, and Mr. D'Oyly Carte must have lavished a small fortune upon its make. It is a beautiful dream of gold and various other colored silks, and something like 600 square yards of silk were used in its manufacture. I am told that the director of the Paris Opera was almost thunderstruck when, during Mr. Carte's production of "Ivanhoe," he saw the curtain for the first time.

The Savoy curtain must have cost £300 if a penny, its material being of the finest gold plush. Another expensive curtain was that bought by Mr. Charles Wyndham for the Criterion. It cost over £120, being made by Maple.

Most of the other London houses, and probably all the country theaters, content themselves with the old fashioned curtain of canvas, sometimes with a scene and sometimes with imitation curtains painted upon it. The cost of these varies of course, and may run from £20 to £200, according to the amount of work put into them and the artist engaged to paint the scene.—London Tit-Bits.

THEY WON THE RAISE.

The Directors Were Satisfied That Their Claim Was Just.

Once when the miners of a big anthracite mining company were desirous of receiving increased pay an effort was made to induce the local officials in the mining country to make such representations to the president of the company as would produce the desired effect. This was unavailing, however, and efforts in other directions were tried, until the directors offered to meet a delegation of the miners in New York city and discuss the situation. A dozen of the brawniest miners in the region were selected as delegates—great rugged men, who would certainly make a favorable impression. The men met the officials and stated their case, which was that at the prevailing rate of wages they could hardly get enough to eat.

The matter was held under advisement, and the conference adjourned to luncheon. Then came the most amazing display of appetites that has ever been seen before or since, and the colored waiters turned pale as they saw a dish intended for the entire party retained by one man, who speedily made away with the contents. Each man seemed as ravenous as though he had not eaten for a week, and the caterer was at his wits' ends to provide for them all.

At last, when every portion had been eaten and all seemed inclined for more, a giant whose native place was South Wales cried out: "Don't you worry about no more fancy things. Bring us a cheese, and we'll make out all right." A cheese was procured, and the directors gazed with awe as it speedily disappeared. As the last crumbs were disappearing the officials held a hurried consultation, and after awhile the president announced: "Gentlemen, we have decided to concede your claims to an advance of 10 per cent, for we are certain that at present you can scarcely get enough to eat. Nothing but this pleasurable meeting could so fully have convinced us of your needs." The delegates have not yet wearied of telling of the amazing display of gluttony which they allege was preconcerted for the express purpose of creating the impression that it produced.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Great And Only

Encyclopædia Britannica.

Complete in 25 Volumes

The Encyclopædia Britannica is not only a complete compendium of all knowledge, but it is a dictionary of biography, a record of inventions, a history of discoveries, a calendar of dates, a registry of events, a glossary of technical and scientific terms, a collection of mathematical, chemical, and mechanical formulas, a handbook of law, a medical guide.

Best Atlas in the World.

The most thorough and reliable key to business knowledge, a manual of games, sports and amusements, a theranus of statistics, a history of all countries and people, a storehouse of criticism, a treasury of curious learning, a vade mecum for the household and farm, as for the office and library, a repertory of useful information. If the professional or the business man should undertake to put upon his library shelves the special treaties, which would cover as wide a range of topics as those gathered in the Britannica, relating to his own pursuits, his purchases would extend over scores of volumes, some of them rare and expensive, and many of them not brought down to date.

Of all the works of reference now in the market, the Encyclopædia Britannica is not only the most comprehensive, but by far the cheapest, even at

The STAR will for a short time furnish this great work in Cloth binding at $1.60 per volume; in full sheep at $2.20 per volume, and will deliver the whole set upon payment of $5 cash, giving you long time to pay the balance.

The purchase of any Encyclopædia short of the best is not only bad judgment, but worse economy. The STAR will furnish you this, the greatest literary production of the century, at one-third the former price and on terms so accommodating that none need deny themselves the great advantage of owning this mine of information. Remember that the present is the only time we can call our own. We reserve the privilege of withdrawing this offer at any time. It is made as a favor to the STAR'S readers, and for the purpose of increasing our circulation. You are invited to call and examine the books, or send us your address for further particulars. Out of town subscribers can order by mail, and the books will be sent prepaid.

The Original Price of $8 Per Volume.

Heretofore this work could be obtained only at a great cost—from $125 to $200. It is now, for the first time, placed within reach of the masses. A saving of only 15 cents a day gives you this never-failing fountain of knowledge. Is it not worth such a slight effort to obtain it?

SPOTS AND FUTURES

New York Sun's Review of the Cotton Market

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, November 4.—The Sun says: Cotton rose thirteen to fourteen points, then reacted, closed barely steady at a rise for the day of four to six points, with sales of 196,100 bales. Liverpool advanced 1-16d on the spot with sales of 12,000 bales, while futures rose four to four and one-half points and then reacted and closed two to three points higher than the closing quotations Saturday. Manchester was quiet and steady. The feeling on the Continental financial bourses was reported weak. Heavy frost at Jasper, Ala., and light frost at Montgomery, Ala. Galveston receipts 8,887 bales, against 17,461 last week and 25,888 last year. Spot cotton here was quiet at 1-16c advance, with sales of 321 bales for spinning and 1,100 delivered on contract. The Southern spot markets were unchanged. New Orleans sold 3,500 bales and Memphis 750. The ports received to-day 38,292 bales, against 60,397 last week and 85,893 this day last year.

To-day's features: Perhaps nobody was more surprised than the average bull at the smallness of the receipts at the ports and interior towns to-day, no matter how strong his faith might be in the small crop estimates. Certainly the figures were enough to surprise even the best friends of cotton, while perhaps they may have converted some of the more conservative bears, some of whom were ready to admit that the continued smallness of the crop movement seem to point unerringly, as with a finger of destiny, to a very light yield. The estimates for New Orleans and Houston to-morrow were so small as to attract general attention. Early in the day prices took a sharp upward turn, owing to the light receipts, inactivity and buoyancy in Liverpool and heavy buying orders from Europe as well as considerable covering of shorts by local operators. Later on, however, there was considerable liquidation, as usual just before a holiday, and a portion of the early improvement was lost. New York, New Orleans and Chicago sold. The estimated arrivals at the ports this week are very small, however, not over 250,000 bales being expected, whereas for the same week last year they were 396,325. Bears say that cotton is being held back, but bulls say that prices are very remunerative and that the crop is being marketed by the great bulk of the farming community at the South as rapidly as possible. They predict higher prices, though in the bull market reactions must be expected from time to time.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

December Wheat Closed Unchanged from Saturday's Prices—Corn Higher—Pork and Ribs Unchanged.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Nine-tenths of to-day's session wheat was quotably the same price. An idea of the extent of the trade may be formed from the fact. There was practically no business, the scalpers and room traders buying and selling moderate quantities. The news summed up might be considered favorable to the bears, but that element made no attempt to depress prices. December wheat opened from 58½ to 58¼@58⅝c, advanced to 58⅝@58⅞c—closing at 58⅜c, unchanged from Saturday. Cash wheat was steady.

The indifference of the trade in corn was quite as marked to-day as it has been on any day recently. The news of the day developed nothing calculated to arouse operators from their lethargy. The situation seemed to be that the supplies of corn are known, but the consumption and absorption uncertain. The market is therefore in a knotty condition, with the advantage in favor of the bears. May corn opened at 29⅛c, sold between 29¼ and 29@29⅛c; closing at 29¼c.—⅛c. higher than Saturday. Cash corn was steady.

Only slight alterations in prices were observed in oats and they were due to the modest action of the larger markets. The trade in oats like that in corn is impressed by the immensity of the late crop. May oats closed unchanged from Saturday. Cash oats were ¼ to ⅜c. per bushel lower.

Provisions—A big run of hogs weakened the stock yards market and in turn affected product. The depression continued for a short period after the opening this morning, after which the appearance of a little outside buying reversed the tone, and from that time until the close comparative steadiness prevailed. January pork and January ribs closed unchanged from Saturday; January lard was a shade higher.

HOSIERY MILLS.

A Large Plant Soon to be in Operation at Durham.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RALEIGH, N. C., November 4.—The Golden Belt Hosiery Mills at Durham are being equipped, and will be the largest in the South. THE ELECTIONS TO-DAY.

DEMOCRATS CLAIM OHIO BY TEN THOUSAND MAJORITY.

Confident That They Will Carry Kentucky—The Situation in Iowa—Democratic Leaders in New York Estimate a Plurality For Their Ticket—Both Parties Claim Maryland.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LOUISVILLE, November 4.—Harrodsburg, the home town of Gen. P. Wat. Hardin, gave him an ovation to-day. The procession was swelled by enthusiastic citizens of all counties adjoining Mercer, who came here to listen to Gen. Hardin's closing campaign speech this afternoon. At Hardin's headquarters all is serene and the utmost confidence prevails that Kentucky will roll up a handsome majority for the entire Democratic ticket. On the other hand, prominent Republicans claim that Bradley will carry the State by from 5,000 to 10,000. The Prohibition and Populist State tickets will cut no material figure in the contest.

The present Governor, John Young Brown, carried the State by over 28,000 and the present canvass has been so thoroughly and vigorously prosecuted that it is agreed by all parties that the largest vote ever polled in the State will be given to-morrow.

DES MOINES, IA., November 4.—Indications are that the vote at to-morrow's election will be light. The Republican State Central Committee claims the election of the entire ticket by pluralities of from 30,000 to 50,000 votes. The members acknowledge that the vigorous attack made on Drake's railroad building record has had an effect. It is estimated that he will run from 7,000 to 8,000 behind the rest of the ticket. The Democrats are conceding the election of all the Republican State ticket but its head. They claim that the majorities of last year will be reduced nearly half, and claim that there is a show for the election of Babb because of defections from Drake's following. It is claimed by the Prohibitionists that their ticket will receive 30,000 votes in the State this year against less than 8,000 last year.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Nov. 4.—The electors of Ohio will to-morrow choose a Governor, Treasurer, Auditor, Judge and Clerk of the Supreme Court, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, member of the State Board of Public Works and a full General Assembly. The election of the latter is of special importance as it will elect a successor to Senator Calvin S. Brice. The campaign has been a hot one and fought with unusual vigor on both sides. The Republican Committee states that 860 speeches were made under its directions and fully that many were made on the Democratic side. Ex-Gov. Campbell himself made 55 speeches. On the Democratic side State issues have been adhered to and the Republicans have been vigorously assailed on the ground of corruption in the Legislature and extravagance in Gov. McKinley's administration. Besides defending themselves from these charges, the Republicans have attacked the Democrats upon national grounds, claiming that the question of the return of Senator Brice raises a national issue. Gov. McKinley has freely embraced this opportunity to urge in his speeches the necessity of increasing the tariff rates. In 1892 the Republicans carried the State by 1,073. In 1893 Gov. McKinley's plurality was 80,995. Last year the Republican plurality rose to the unprecedentedly high figure of 187,089. However this was upon a total vote of 776,819. In 1892 the total vote was 861,625. A full vote is expected to-morrow and probably 880,000 ballots will be cast.

The Republicans concede that their plurality will drop back this year to the normal figure—from 15,000 to 30,000. The Democrats claim that it will be wiped out, and that ex-Gov. Campbell will be elected by 10,000. The committee chairman will make no estimates. The Democrats base their hope of success upon opposition within his own party to ex-Gov. Foraker, whose faction secured control of the convention at Zanesville and dictated the nomination of Gen. Bushnell. They expect that the same element of the Republican party that accomplished the defeat of Gov. Foraker six years ago will vote against his faction now.

Both parties are claiming the Legislature. There seems to be little ground upon which to base an intelligent prediction as to this.

PHILADELPHIA, November 4.—David Martin, the Republican leader in Philadelphia, was shown an article contained in a New York paper to-day setting forth that the anti-Quay and Harrison men have inaugurated a movement to strike down Senator Quay, and that a fund of $300,000 has been guaranteed for use by those who are to direct it. After carefully reading the article, Mr. Martin said: "That's all stuff. There is not a word of truth in it."

The gentleman was asked what he thought of to-morrow's election, and he replied: "I think we will poll 35 per cent. of our vote of last November. It may reach 50 per cent., and at least 50,000 majority."

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—The hottest campaign in the history of Maryland politics closed to-night when the party managers shut up their respective headquarters, preparatory to the battle of ballots on the morrow. A Governor, Comptroller and States Attorney, House of Delegates and fourteen Senators will be selected. In Baltimore city a full municipal ticket will be chosen. There are four tickets in the field, but it is conceded that the fight will be between the Democrat and Republican candidates. The Democratic managers are to-night claiming the election of Mr. Hurst by from 5,000 to 10,000 plurality, while conservative estimates by the Republican-Democratic leaders place Mr. Lowndes' majority at 10,000. There was plenty of Lowndes money offered to-night at $100 to $60, but few bets were made.

ALBANY, N. Y., November 4.—A conference of Democratic leaders was held here to-day. Reports were received from the different counties of the State. The estimated majorities of the eleven counties which are placed in the Democratic column are 78,000. The estimated majorities in the Republican counties are 52,000. The final estimate of the Democratic State Committee is 18,000 plurality for the State ticket, and twenty-six of the fifty Senators.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The betting on the result of the election is very light at the hotels and in sporting circles to-night. But few betting men who wished to wager their money were about the Fifth Avenue Hotel, the Hoffman House, St. James Hotel and the Gilsey House, where in former years there has always been a great crowd.

At midnight the odds stood at three to one on a Republican State victory, while a Tammany contingent fought shy on the result in the State and confined themselves to the county. The odds offered were two to one on the county, but there were no takers. Among some of the bets that were recorded are: Al Smith bet Riley Grannan $1,000 to $500 on Tammany's victory in the county. Geo. Morgan and R. A. Anderson made a bet of the same amount on the same conditions and the same odds.

LATE FOREIGN NEWS.

The Venezuelan Situation—Joint Action to be Taken by England and the United States For Protection of Missionaries in Turkey.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Ambassador Bayard still awaits a more definite reply to the memorandum of Secretary Olney defining the United States interpretation of the Monroe doctrine as applicable to the Venezuelan situation. In acknowledging the receipt of the document Lord Salisbury informed Mr. Bayard that he desired to consult leading international lawyers on the points advanced. Those international jurists, it is stated, have not yet made their report to Lord Salisbury.

In regard to the report that the United States and England intended to take joint action in Turkey looking to the protection of American and British missionaries, U. S. Ambassador Bayard said to-day that nothing had been done through the American embassy, but he was hopeful that something would be done upon the lines suggested. Anyhow, he said, joint action would be taken simply upon grounds of humanity.

The Salvadorian Minister here had a long interview with Ambassador Bayard this afternoon.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—The Vossische Zeitung says that Col. Von Hannekin, the German officer who took a prominent part on the side of China in the Chinese-Japanese war, has arrived in this city on a special mission. He is, the paper says, empowered to arrange for the reorganization of the Chinese army on Russian, French or German soil.

ATLANTA'S EXPOSITION.

Attendance Growing Steadily and Receipts More than Paying Expenses—Diplomatic Day November 16—Special Rates for Schools.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, November 4.—Sam M. Inman, chairman of the Exposition Finance Committee, goes down in his pocket for $50,000 towards taking up the company's floating debts. When he announced his subscription to his associates there was applause. The other directors have put up and the floating debt will be safely financiered this week. The attendance is growing steadily and the receipts are more than paying expenses. For the first month the Exposition did not get out even, but now it is getting square with the world and by the end of the month the daily receipts will go away ahead of expenses.

Invitations have been sent to the representatives of all foreign governments at Washington to visit the Exposition November 16th, Diplomatic day. Acceptances have been received from the representatives of Mexico, Costa Rica, Venezuela, Brazil, the Argentine Confederation and Chili. Secretary Olney is coming. There will be speeches by the visitors, special displays by the foreign exhibitors and dinners and receptions.

A special rate has been made by the Exposition for schools when pupils come in bodies of thirty or more in charge of the teachers.

THE PUGILISTS.

Corbett in Memphis—Says He Will Pay No More Attention to Fitzsimmons.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MEMPHIS, TENN., November 4.—James J. Corbett and his party arrived in Memphis this morning. Corbett will give an exhibition here to-night, and go hence to New York.

"I will pay no more attention to Fitzsimmons," said Corbett. "I feel convinced now that he never intended to meet me. I would have fought him for nothing." In proof of what he stated relative to Fitzsimmons' not wanting to fight, Corbett exhibited a copy of a letter from Superintendent Rose, of the Iron Mountain Railroad, to the general passenger agent, H. C. Townsend, in which Mr. Rose states that he could have gotten Fitzsimmons through to Hot Springs without trouble, but for Fitzsimmons himself. "Fitz acted as if he did not want to fight" was a sentence in the letter. Corbett said further: "I am thinking seriously of quitting the ring. I will make up my mind fully on my arrival in New York. There is nothing in the business any more and in nearly all the States it is a felony, and I do not want to be classed as a common criminal; still, I believe that non-interference with prize fighting would make men trust to nature's weapons and would eventually do away with shooting and cutting."

NEGRO CONVENTION

To be Held in Raleigh to Endorse the Action of the September Conference.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RALEIGH, N. C., November 4.—To-day a formal call for a State ratification meeting of negroes was made. The meeting is to be held here day after to-morrow, during the colored State Fair. It is to endorse the action taken at a conference held here last September on matters pertaining to the welfare of the negro in North Carolina. Those who held that conference are charged with assisting the Democrats, but this they deny and announce that their purpose is to establish business enterprises and to look after the educational interests of their race. They declare that some persons fear negro organizations. They also declare they are Republicans and do not intend to be led by Populists, but will be with the Republican party on financial questions, and say: "We want no Tillmanism in ours." They assert that they are not bound by the late State silver convention, which resolved that no man should be voted for unless he publicly declares on the stump that he is for the free coinage of silver.

A LONE HIGHWAYMAN

Shot and Captured After He Had Robbed a Mail Coach.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ASHLAND, ORE., November 4.—The Ager-Klamath Falls stage, which has been held up eight times in as many months, was stopped near Kenoa yesterday morning by a lone highwayman, who presented a dummy revolver at the driver and compelled him to throw out the mail pouches and move on. After the stage had proceeded a short distance, Newton Gordon, a Klamath county attorney, alighted and returned to the scene of the robbery. He found the bandit rifling the mail bags, and opened fire on him. The second shot struck the highwayman on the arm, and he was halted and captured. He proved to be Adolph Frick, a notorious character, who escaped from Klamath Falls jail Friday last, where he was waiting sentence for horse stealing.

THE A. P. A.

Serious Split in the Organization in Ohio

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, November 4.—There is a serious split in the State organization of the A. P. A. It has resulted in the deposition of the State President, Charles Wildasin, of Springfield. D. T. Ramsay, of this city, a member of the State Executive Committee, says President Wildasin was deposed by a unanimous vote of the committee for his attempt to use the order in politics. He says it was found that Wildasin attended the Republican State Convention and offered the support of the order to the several candidates.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Thursday, the 28th Instant, Appointed Thanksgiving Day—Commission on Deep Waterways—A. K. Ward, the Memphis Embezzler—Report of the Trial of the Kathadin.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, November 4.—The customary Thanksgiving proclamation was issued by the President, setting apart Thursday, the 28th instant, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, to be kept and observed by all our people.

Under authority of the act of Congress, providing for a joint Canadian and United States commission to inquire into and report on the feasibility of establishing deep waterways between the great lakes and the Atlantic ocean, the President to-day appointed James B. Angell, of Michigan; John E. Russell, of Massachusetts, and Lyman G. Cooley, of Illinois, as American commissioners.

At the request of the Secretary of State the Government of Honduras has promised to extradite A. K. Ward, the alleged Memphis embezzler, who was captured in that country recently. The United States has no extradition treaty with Honduras, and the favor extended in Ward's case emphasized all the more the friendly feeling of that Government toward this country, through the fact that this Government could not reciprocate if Honduras requested the extradition of one of its criminals from America. It will be necessary for the State of Tennessee to send an officer to Honduras for Ward, as the Federal Government has no fund for that purpose to be used in State cases.

The final official report of the Kathadin's trial shows that the calculations made still further reduce the speed, bringing the figures down to 16.11 knots instead of 17, as imperatively required by the contract. The Kathadin did wonderfully, however, in horse-power development, making two hundred more than was estimated. Secretary Herbert will take no action on the failure of the Kathadin to attain the required speed until the official report of the trial board has been considered.

NEWS OF THE NAVY

Appointments—Movements of U. S. Warships.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The President has approved the records of the following naval cases: Commodore T. O. Selfridge to be Rear Admiral; Commander F. A. Cook, to be Captain; Lieut. Frederick Singer to be Lieut. Commander; Ensigns H. P. Jones, Jr., and W. O. Hulme, Lieutenants Junior Grades; Assistant Engineer A. S. Halstead and W. B. Day, Passed Assistant Engineers and Surgeon Dwight Dickinson a medical inspector.

The following retirement cases are also approved: Lieuts. D. L. Wilson, N. J. L. T. Halpine and H. Eldridge and Chief Engineer Magee. Lieut. G. Blocklinger has been detached from the Washington navy yard and ordered to the Boston. Lieut. F. E. Sawyer has been ordered to the Boston navy yard.

Movements of naval vessels have been reported to the Navy Department by telegraph as follows: The Monocacy sailed from Shanghai to-day for Chee Foo; the Detroit arrived at Hong Kong Saturday; the Lancaster sailed from Newport to-day for the South Atlantic station; the Dolphin arrived at Newport to-day.

PROSPECTS OF A STRIKE

By Members of the American Railway Union on the Great Northern Railroad.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WEST SUPERIOR, WIS., November 4.—From the outlook in this city among the members of the American Railway Union the prospects of a strike on the Eastern Minnesota road, which is the Lake Superior outlet of the Great Northern, is very good. The union held a meeting yesterday afternoon, at which speeches were made showing the sentiment of the men in favor of standing by the conference committee, which was refused an audience with President Hill, and to stand by the American Railway Union in any trouble which may arise. The Great Northern has more employes at Superior than at any other point on the road, except Minneapolis and St. Paul. A strike would tie up all the elevator systems here, and probably all the flour mills.

FAILURE IN WINSTON.

Decision in an Important Case in the U. S. District Court.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WINSTON, N. C., Nov. 4.—F. W. Efland, dealer in groceries, assigned here to-day. Assets placed at $8,500; liabilities quite heavy.

Judge Dick of the United States District Court handed down a decision to-day in an important suit tried before him on October 2nd. The case was that of Carter Casing Machine Company of Danville, Va., vs. eight of Winston's tobacco manufacturers. Plaintiffs claimed that defendants were infringing on their patents by using other machines and asked for heavy damages. The case has been in the courts for several years. Judge Dick decided in favor of the defendants and taxed the plaintiffs with costs.

SWINE PLAGUE.

Hogs in Minnesota Dying from Disease.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WINNEBAGO CITY, MINN., Nov. 4.—Dr. Chas. N. Hewitt, of Minneapolis, of the State Board of Health, Dr. V. A. Moore, of Washington, Dr. O. Dahlstrom, of this place and two other physicians, members of the Local Board of Health, visited the townships of Winnebago, Verona, Prescott, Blue Earth and Elmore, in Faribault county yesterday. At fourteen different places postmortems were made on hogs. The lungs of all these animals were found to be badly inflamed and to be the seat of the disease which was pronounced swine plague by Drs. Hewitt and Moore. Dr. Hewitt says filthy conditions are the cause of the disease.

DRY GOODS MARKET

Staples and Seasonable Fancy Fabrics Quiet.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—There has been a generally quiet dry goods market during the past week so far as staples and seasonable fancy fabrics are concerned. Cotton dress fabrics for Fall have sold in moderate quantities at firm prices in both printed and woven patterned lines, with a firm tone prevailing and a somewhat higher average of prices than last season. The woollen and worsted goods departments have been quiet in both men's wear fabrics and dress goods, but prices are, as a rule, well maintained. The jobbing trade has shown about average results for the time of the year.

The steamer Joe Peters, in the Memphis and Vicksburg trade, sunk yesterday twenty miles below Memphis. No lives were lost.

A Child Enjoys

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle on hand.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

It is the principle upon which this Store is founded It is the principle upon which the Store is maintained. To fail to complain of any unsatisfactory purchase is the gravest wrong you can inflict on this Store. Your money back for the asking, applies to out of town as well as town patrons. Out of town patrons write us if any purchase is unsatisfactory, and you'll get your money back by return mail, by telegraph if you say so. But give us the chance and we'll prove that we are selling to please. To better this Store, to make it perfect is our desire.
